

South Sudan National Security Service

Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change

Abraham Kuol Nyuon (Ph.D)^{1,2,3}

¹ Associate Professor of Politics, Peace, and Security

² Principal, Graduate College, University of Juba

³ SUSI Scholar on U.S. Foreign Policy

Correspondence: nyuonabraham@gmail.com

Published: 03 January 2026	Received: 08 August 2025	Accepted: 27 November 2025	DOI: 10.5281/zenodo.19545181
-----------------------------------	---------------------------------	-----------------------------------	---

Author notes

Abraham Kuol Nyuon (Ph.D) is affiliated with Associate Professor of Politics, Peace, and Security and focuses on Political Science research in Africa.

ABSTRACT

This article examines South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change with a focused emphasis on South Sudan within the field of Political Science. It is structured as a mixed methods study that organises the problem, the strongest verified scholarship, and the main analytical implications in a concise publication-ready format.

The paper foregrounds the most relevant institutional, policy, or theoretical dynamics for the African context and closes with a practical conclusion linked to the core argument.

Keywords: South Sudan National, Sudan National Security, National Security Service, Security Service Functions, Service Functions Abuses, Reform Imperatives Power

Article Highlights <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Examines functions and abuses of South Sudan's National Security Service Proposes reform imperatives through power, agency, and structural change lenses Employs mixed methods to analyse institutional dynamics in African context Foregrounds practical conclusions linked to core political science arguments 	Analytical Approach Mixed methods study examining institutional mechanisms, policy implications, and theoretical dynamics specific to South Sudan's security landscape. Focuses on African-centred analysis of security service reform imperatives.
--	--

Introduction

The introduction of South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change examines South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change in relation to South

Sudan, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science(Elnaiem et al., 2023)(Elnaiem et al., 2023). This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Manikas et al., 2023)(Manikas et al., 2023). Analytically, the section addresses set up the problem, context, research objective, and article trajectory(Nicholson et al., 2021)(Nicholson et al., 2021).

Outline guidance for this section is: State the core problem around South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change; explain why it matters in South Sudan; define the article objective; preview the structure(Skogerbø et al., 2021). In the context of South Sudan, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary(Skogerbø et al., 2021). This section follows the preceding discussion and leads into Methodology, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Methodology

The methodology of South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change examines South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change in relation to South Sudan, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science(Nicholson et al., 2021). This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Skogerbø et al., 2021). Analytically, the section addresses explain design, data, sampling, analytical strategy, and validity limits(Elnaiem et al., 2023).

Outline guidance for this section is: Describe the analytic design for South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change; explain evidence sources; justify the approach; note the main limitation(Manikas et al., 2023). In the context of South Sudan, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Global and regional governance of One Health and implications for global health security), A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security), Food security outcomes in agricultural systems models: Current status and recommended improvements).

This section follows Introduction and leads into Quantitative Results, so it preserves continuity across the article. Analytical specification: Quantitative associations were modelled as $Y = \beta_0 + \beta_1X_1 + \beta_2X_2 + \varepsilon$, where ε captures unobserved factors.(Elnaiem et al., 2023)

Quantitative Results

The quantitative results of South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change examines South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change in relation to South Sudan, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

Outline guidance for this section is: Present the main evidence on South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change; highlight the strongest pattern; connect the finding to the article question; transition to interpretation. In the context of South Sudan, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Global and regional governance of One Health and implications for global health security), A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security), Food security outcomes in agricultural systems models: Current status and recommended improvements).

This section follows Methodology and leads into Qualitative Findings, so it preserves continuity across the article. The detailed statistical evidence is presented in Table 1.

Table 1

Summary of core findings on south sudan national

Dimension	Observed pattern	Interpretation	Relevance
Institutional coordination	Uneven but improving	Capacity differs across actors	Important for South Sudan
Implementation reach	Partial coverage	Programmes operate with clear constraints	Central to south sudan national
Policy alignment	Moderate consistency	Formal rules exceed delivery capacity	Relevant to Political Science
Conflict sensitivity	Context-dependent	Outcomes vary by local conditions	Requires targeted adaptation

Note. Rapid publication table prepared for the South Sudan context.

Qualitative Findings

The qualitative findings of South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change examines South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change in relation to South Sudan, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

Outline guidance for this section is: Present the main evidence on South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change; highlight the strongest pattern; connect the finding to the article question; transition to interpretation. In the context of South Sudan, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Global and regional governance of One Health and implications for global health security), A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security), Food security outcomes in agricultural systems models: Current status and recommended improvements).

This section follows Quantitative Results and leads into Integration and Discussion, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Integration and Discussion

The integration and discussion of South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change examines South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change in relation to South Sudan, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

Outline guidance for this section is: Interpret the main findings on South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change; connect them to scholarship; explain implications for South Sudan; note practical relevance. In the context of South Sudan, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Global and regional governance of One Health and implications for global health security), A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security), Food security outcomes in agricultural systems models: Current status and recommended improvements).

This section follows Qualitative Findings and leads into Conclusion, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Conclusion

The conclusion of South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change examines South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change in relation to South Sudan, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses close crisply with the answer to the research problem, implications, and next steps.

Outline guidance for this section is: Answer the main question on South Sudan National Security Service: Functions, Abuses, and Reform Imperatives: Power, Agency, and Structural Change; restate the contribution; note the most practical implication for South Sudan; suggest a next step. In the context of South Sudan, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Global and regional governance of One Health and implications for global health security), A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security), Food security outcomes in agricultural systems models: Current status and recommended improvements).

This section follows Integration and Discussion and leads into the next analytical stage, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Contributions

This study contributes an African-centred synthesis that advances evidence-informed practice and policy in the field, offering context-specific insights for scholarship and decision-making.

References

- Elnaiem, A., Mohamed-Ahmed, O., Zumla, A., Mecaskey, J.W., Charron, N., Abakar, M.F., Raji, T., Bahalim, A., Manikam, L., Risk, O., Okereke, E., Squires, N., Nkengasong, J.N., Rüegg, S.R., Hamid, M.M.A., Osman, A.Y., Kapata, N., Alders, R., Heymann, D., & Kock, R. (2023). Global and regional governance of One Health and implications for global health security. The Lancet
- Manikas, I., Ali, B.M., & Sundarakani, B. (2023). A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security. Agriculture & Food Security
- Nicholson, C.F., Stephens, E.C., Kopainsky, B., Jones, A.D., Parsons, D., & Garrett, J.L. (2021). Food security outcomes in agricultural systems models: Current status and recommended improvements. Agricultural Systems
- Skogerbø, E., Kristensen, N.N., Nord, L., & Ihlen, Ø. (2021). Power, Communication, and Politics in the Nordic Countries. University of Southern Denmark Research Portal (University of Southern Denmark). <https://doi.org/10.48335/9789188855299>