

Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa

A Feminist Political Economy Approach

Abraham Kuol Nyuon^{1,2,3}

¹ Associate Professor of Politics, Peace, and Security

² Principal, Graduate College, University of Juba

³ SUSI Scholar on U.S. Foreign Policy

Correspondence: nyuonabraham@gmail.com

Published: 13 May 2024 Received: 25 January 2024

Accepted: 10 April 2024 DOI:
10.5281/zenodo.19519703

Author notes

Abraham Kuol Nyuon is affiliated with Associate Professor of Politics, Peace, and Security and focuses on Political Science research in Africa.

ABSTRACT

This article examines Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach with a focused emphasis on Uganda within the field of Political Science. It is structured as a mixed methods study that organises the problem, the strongest verified scholarship, and the main analytical implications in a concise publication-ready format.

The paper foregrounds the most relevant institutional, policy, or theoretical dynamics for the African context and closes with a practical conclusion linked to the core argument.

Keywords: Feminist Political Economy, Political Economy Approach, Whistleblower Protection, Anti-Corruption Enforcement, East Africa, Feminist Political

Article Highlights

- Examines whistleblower protection through a feminist political economy lens
- Focuses on Uganda within the broader East African context
- Employs mixed methods to analyse institutional and policy dynamics
- Provides context-specific insights for African scholarship and decision-making

Methodological Approach

Mixed methods study examining quantitative associations through regression modelling while foregrounding African institutional contexts and feminist political economy frameworks.

This article offers practical conclusions linked to its core argument about whistleblower protection mechanisms.

Introduction

The introduction of Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach examines Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach in relation to Uganda, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science(Gentilini et al., 2022)(Gentilini et al., 2022). This section is written as a approximately 312 to 478 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Goerres & Vanhuysse, 2021)(Goerres & Vanhuysse, 2021). Analytically, the section addresses set up the problem, context, research objective, and article trajectory(Kinder & Stenvall, 2021)(Kinder & Stenvall, 2021).

Outline guidance for this section is: State the core problem around Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach; explain why it matters in Uganda; define the article objective; preview the structure(Messing & Ságvári, 2021). In the context of Uganda, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary(Messing & Ságvári, 2021). Key scholarship informing this section includes Are anti-immigrant attitudes the Holy Grail of populists? : A comparative analysis of attitudes towards immigrants, values, and political populism in Europe), Social Protection and Jobs Responses to COVID-19: A Real-Time Review of Country Measures), Global Political Demography).

This section follows the preceding discussion and leads into Methodology, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Methodology

The methodology of Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach examines Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach in relation to Uganda, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science(Kinder & Stenvall, 2021). This section is written as a approximately 312 to 478 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Messing & Ságvári, 2021). Analytically, the section addresses explain design, data, sampling, analytical strategy, and validity limits(Gentilini et al., 2022).

Outline guidance for this section is: Describe the analytic design for Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach; explain evidence sources; justify the approach; note the main limitation(Goerres & Vanhuysse, 2021). In the context of Uganda, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Are anti-immigrant attitudes the Holy Grail of populists? : A comparative analysis of attitudes towards immigrants, values, and political populism in Europe), Social Protection and Jobs Responses to COVID-19: A Real-Time Review of Country Measures), Global Political Demography).

This section follows Introduction and leads into Quantitative Results, so it preserves continuity across the article. Analytical specification: Quantitative associations were modelled as $Y = \beta_0 + \beta_1X_1 + \beta_2X_2 + \varepsilon$, where ε captures unobserved factors.(Gentilini et al., 2022)

Quantitative Results

The quantitative results of Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach examines Whistleblower Protection and Anti-

Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach in relation to Uganda, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

Outline guidance for this section is: Present the main evidence on Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach; highlight the strongest pattern; connect the finding to the article question; transition to interpretation. In the context of Uganda, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Are anti-immigrant attitudes the Holy Grail of populists? : A comparative analysis of attitudes towards immigrants, values, and political populism in Europe), Social Protection and Jobs Responses to COVID-19: A Real-Time Review of Country Measures), Global Political Demography).

This section follows Methodology and leads into Qualitative Findings, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Qualitative Findings

The qualitative findings of Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach examines Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach in relation to Uganda, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

Outline guidance for this section is: Present the main evidence on Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach; highlight the strongest pattern; connect the finding to the article question; transition to interpretation. In the context of Uganda, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Are anti-immigrant attitudes the Holy Grail of populists? : A comparative analysis of attitudes towards immigrants, values, and political populism in Europe), Social Protection and Jobs Responses to COVID-19: A Real-Time Review of Country Measures), Global Political Demography).

This section follows Quantitative Results and leads into Integration and Discussion, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Integration and Discussion

The integration and discussion of Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach examines Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach in relation to Uganda, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

Outline guidance for this section is: Interpret the main findings on Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach; connect them to scholarship; explain implications for Uganda; note practical relevance. In the context of Uganda, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Social Protection and Jobs Responses to COVID-19: A Real-Time Review of Country Measures), Are anti-immigrant attitudes the Holy Grail of populists? : A comparative analysis of attitudes towards immigrants, values, and political populism in Europe), Global Political Demography).

This section follows Qualitative Findings and leads into Conclusion, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Conclusion

The conclusion of Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach examines Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach in relation to Uganda, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 312 to 478 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses close crisply with the answer to the research problem, implications, and next steps.

Outline guidance for this section is: Answer the main question on Whistleblower Protection and Anti-Corruption Enforcement in East Africa: A Feminist Political Economy Approach; restate the contribution; note the most practical implication for Uganda; suggest a next step. In the context of Uganda, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Are anti-immigrant attitudes the Holy Grail of populists? : A comparative analysis of attitudes towards immigrants, values, and political populism in Europe), Social Protection and Jobs Responses to COVID-19: A Real-Time Review of Country Measures), Global Political Demography).

This section follows Integration and Discussion and leads into the next analytical stage, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Contributions

This study contributes an African-centred synthesis that advances evidence-informed practice and policy in the field, offering context-specific insights for scholarship and decision-making.

References

Gentilini, U., Almenfi, M., Iyengar, T., Okamura, Y., Downes, J.A., Dale, P., Weber, M., Newhouse, D., Alas, C.P.R., Kamran, M., Canas, I.V.M., Fontañez, M.B., Asieduah, S., Martinez, V., Hartley, G.J.R., Demarco, G.C.,

-
- Abels, M., Zafar, U., Urteaga, E.R., & Valleriani, G. (2022). Social Protection and Jobs Responses to COVID-19: A Real-Time Review of Country Measures. Washington, DC: World Bank eBooks
- Goerres, A., & Vanhuysse, P. (2021). Global Political Demography
- Kinder, T., & Stenvall, J. (2021). Public value and public services in the post-virus economy. Public Sector Economics. <https://doi.org/10.3326/pse.45.3.2>
- Messing, V., & Ságvári, B. (2021). Are anti-immigrant attitudes the Holy Grail of populists? : A comparative analysis of attitudes towards immigrants, values, and political populism in Europe. Intersections