Conclusion

The conclusion of Terrorism and Tourism: Security Impacts on East African Economies: Lessons for Sub-Saharan Africa examines Terrorism and Tourism: Security Impacts on East African Economies: Lessons for Sub-Saharan Africa in relation to Niger, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Law. This section is written as a approximately 376 to 577 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses close crisply with the answer to the research problem, implications, and next steps.

Outline guidance for this section is: Answer the main question on Terrorism and Tourism: Security Impacts on East African Economies: Lessons for Sub-Saharan Africa; restate the contribution; note the most practical implication for Niger; suggest a next step. In the context of Niger, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Environment of Peace: Security in a New Era of Risk ), Risk, Resilience and Reward: Impacts of Shifting to Digital Sex Work ), Organisation of African Unity (Organisation de l'unité africaine [sic]) : its role in education. ).

This section follows Discussion and leads into the next analytical stage, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Contributions

This study contributes an African-centred synthesis that advances evidence-informed practice and policy in the field, offering context-specific insights for scholarship and decision-making.
