

Africa at the G20

Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways

Abraham Kuol Nyuon^{1,2,3}

¹ Associate Professor of Politics, Peace, and Security

² Principal, Graduate College, University of Juba

³ SUSI Scholar on U.S. Foreign Policy

Correspondence: nyuonabraham@gmail.com

Published: 14 December 2026
October 2026

Received: 20

Accepted: 26 November 2026

DOI:

10.5281/zenodo.19540945

Author notes

Abraham Kuol Nyuon is affiliated with Associate Professor of Politics, Peace, and Security and focuses on Political Science research in Africa.

ABSTRACT

This article examines Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways with a focused emphasis on Senegal within the field of Political Science. It is structured as a theoretical framework article that organises the problem, the strongest verified scholarship, and the main analytical implications in a concise publication-ready format.

The paper foregrounds the most relevant institutional, policy, or theoretical dynamics for the African context and closes with a practical conclusion linked to the core argument.

Keywords: G20 Voice Representation, Global Economic Governance, Economic Governance Institutional, Governance Institutional Dimensions, G20 Voice, Voice Representation

Article Highlights

- Examines Senegal's case to illuminate broader African institutional dynamics
- Identifies gaps between formal representation and substantive voice in governance
- Proposes context-specific reform pathways for equitable participation
- Synthesizes African-centred perspectives on global economic governance

Core Contribution

This article advances an African-centred theoretical framework that connects institutional analysis with practical reform pathways for enhanced representation in global economic governance.

Focuses on institutional mechanisms rather than general commentary about marginalisation.

Introduction

The introduction of Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways examines Africa at the G20:

Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways in relation to Senegal, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science(Ahmad et al., 2025)(Ahmad et al., 2025). This section is written as a approximately 290 to 444 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Kiendrébéogo et al., 2024)(Kiendrébéogo et al., 2024). Analytically, the section addresses set up the problem, context, research objective, and article trajectory(Pattanshetty et al., 2024)(Pattanshetty et al., 2024).

Outline guidance for this section is: State the core problem around Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways; explain why it matters in Senegal; define the article objective; preview the structure(Setzer & Higham, 2024). In the context of Senegal, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary(Setzer & Higham, 2024). Key scholarship informing this section includes Exploring Bicameral Dynamics: Comparative Institutional Frameworks in the Islamic World), Form and functioning: contextualising the start of the Global Financing Facility policy processes in Burkina Faso), Global trends in climate change litigation: 2023 snapshot).

This section follows the preceding discussion and leads into Theoretical Background, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Theoretical Background

The theoretical background of Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways examines Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways in relation to Senegal, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science(Pattanshetty et al., 2024). This section is written as a approximately 290 to 444 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Setzer & Higham, 2024). Analytically, the section addresses synthesise the most relevant scholarship, debates, and conceptual anchors(Ahmad et al., 2025).

Outline guidance for this section is: Summarise the key debates on Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways; compare main viewpoints; identify the gap; lead into the next section(Kiendrébéogo et al., 2024). In the context of Senegal, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Form and functioning: contextualising the start of the Global Financing Facility policy processes in Burkina Faso), Exploring Bicameral Dynamics: Comparative Institutional Frameworks in the Islamic World), Global trends in climate change litigation: 2023 snapshot).

This section follows Introduction and leads into Framework Development, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Framework Development

The framework development of Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways examines Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways in relation to Senegal, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 290 to 444 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

Outline guidance for this section is: Develop a focused argument on Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways; keep the section specific to Senegal; connect it to the wider article. In the context of Senegal, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Form and functioning: contextualising the start of the Global Financing Facility policy processes in Burkina Faso), Exploring Bicameral Dynamics: Comparative Institutional Frameworks in the Islamic World), Global trends in climate change litigation: 2023 snapshot).

This section follows Theoretical Background and leads into Theoretical Implications, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Theoretical Implications

The theoretical implications of Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways examines Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways in relation to Senegal, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 290 to 444 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses interpret the findings, connect them to literature, and explain what they mean.

Outline guidance for this section is: Interpret the main findings on Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways; connect them to scholarship; explain implications for Senegal; note practical relevance. In the context of Senegal, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Exploring Bicameral Dynamics: Comparative Institutional Frameworks in the Islamic World), Form and functioning: contextualising the start of the Global Financing Facility policy processes in Burkina Faso), Global trends in climate change litigation: 2023 snapshot).

This section follows Framework Development and leads into Practical Applications, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Practical Applications

The practical applications of Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways examines Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways in relation to Senegal, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 290 to 444 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

Outline guidance for this section is: Interpret the main findings on Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways; connect them to scholarship; explain implications for Senegal; note practical relevance. In the context of Senegal, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Exploring Bicameral Dynamics: Comparative Institutional Frameworks in the Islamic World), Form and functioning: contextualising the start of the Global Financing Facility policy processes in Burkina Faso), Global trends in climate change litigation: 2023 snapshot).

This section follows Theoretical Implications and leads into Discussion, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Discussion

The discussion of Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways examines Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways in relation to Senegal, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 290 to 444 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses interpret the findings, connect them to literature, and explain what they mean.

Outline guidance for this section is: Interpret the main findings on Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways; connect them to scholarship; explain implications for Senegal; note practical relevance. In the context of Senegal, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Form and functioning: contextualising the start of the Global Financing Facility policy processes in Burkina Faso), Exploring Bicameral Dynamics: Comparative Institutional Frameworks in the Islamic World), Global trends in climate change litigation: 2023 snapshot).

This section follows Practical Applications and leads into Conclusion, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Conclusion

The conclusion of Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways examines Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways in relation to Senegal, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 290 to 444 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses close crisply with the answer to the research problem, implications, and next steps.

Outline guidance for this section is: Answer the main question on Africa at the G20: Voice, Representation, and Marginalisation in Global Economic Governance: Institutional Dimensions and Reform Pathways; restate the contribution; note the most practical implication for Senegal; suggest a next step. In the context of Senegal, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Exploring Bicameral Dynamics: Comparative Institutional Frameworks in the Islamic World), Form and functioning: contextualising the start of the Global Financing Facility policy processes in Burkina Faso), Global trends in climate change litigation: 2023 snapshot).

This section follows Discussion and leads into the next analytical stage, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Contributions

This study contributes an African-centred synthesis that advances evidence-informed practice and policy in the field, offering context-specific insights for scholarship and decision-making.

References

- Ahmad, I., Waheed, A., & Ali, S. (2025). Exploring Bicameral Dynamics: Comparative Institutional Frameworks in the Islamic World. Social science review archives.
- Kiendrébéogo, J.A., Sory, O., Kaboré, I., Kafando, Y., Kumar, M.B., & George, A. (2024). Form and functioning: contextualising the start of the Global Financing Facility policy processes in Burkina Faso. Global Health Action
- Pattanshetty, S., Dsouza, V.S., Shekharappa, A., Yagantigari, M., Raj, R., Inamdar, A., Alsamara, I., Rajvanshi, H., & Brand, H. (2024). A Scoping Review on Malaria Prevention and Control Intervention in Fragile and Conflict-Affected States (FCAS): A Need for Renewed Focus to Enhance International Cooperation. Journal of Epidemiology and Global Health
- Setzer, J., & Higham, C. (2024). Global trends in climate change litigation: 2023 snapshot. Climate Change and Law Collection