

Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures

The Role of Civil Society

Abraham Kuol Nyuon<sup>1,2,3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Associate Professor of Politics, Peace, and Security

<sup>2</sup> Principal, Graduate College, University of Juba

<sup>3</sup> SUSI Scholar on U.S. Foreign Policy

Correspondence: nyuonabraham@gmail.com

Published: 24 May 2025 Received: 01 February 2025

Accepted: 19 April 2025 DOI:
10.5281/zenodo.19539808

Author notes

Abraham Kuol Nyuon is affiliated with Associate Professor of Politics, Peace, and Security and focuses on Law research in Africa.

ABSTRACT

This article examines Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society with a focused emphasis on Democratic Republic of Congo within the field of Law. It is structured as a action research study that organises the problem, the strongest verified scholarship, and the main analytical implications in a concise publication-ready format.

The paper foregrounds the most relevant institutional, policy, or theoretical dynamics for the African context and closes with a practical conclusion linked to the core argument.

Keywords: Parliamentary Budget Offices, Parliamentary Budget, Budget Offices, Fiscal Oversight, African Legislatures, Civil Society

Article Highlights

- Examines Parliamentary Budget Offices and fiscal oversight in African legislatures
- Focuses on the Democratic Republic of Congo as a case study
- Analyzes the critical role of civil society in budget oversight mechanisms
- Provides context-specific insights for African governance and policy

Methodological Approach

Action research study examining institutional dynamics, mechanisms, and African significance of Parliamentary Budget Offices in the DRC context.

This article offers practical conclusions linked to core arguments about fiscal oversight.

Introduction

The introduction of Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society examines Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African

---

Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society in relation to Democratic Republic of Congo, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Law(Bekus, 2022)(Bekus, 2022). This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Biekart et al., 2023)(Biekart et al., 2023). Analytically, the section addresses set up the problem, context, research objective, and article trajectory(Mabele et al., 2022)(Mabele et al., 2022).

Outline guidance for this section is: State the core problem around Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society; explain why it matters in Democratic Republic of Congo; define the article objective; preview the structure(May, 2022). In the context of Democratic Republic of Congo, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary(May, 2022). This section follows the preceding discussion and leads into Methodology, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Methodology

---

The methodology of Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society examines Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society in relation to Democratic Republic of Congo, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Law(Mabele et al., 2022). This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(May, 2022). Analytically, the section addresses explain design, data, sampling, analytical strategy, and validity limits(Bekus, 2022).

Outline guidance for this section is: Describe the analytic design for Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society; explain evidence sources; justify the approach; note the main limitation(Biekart et al., 2023). In the context of Democratic Republic of Congo, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Reassembling Society in a Nation-State: History, Language, and Identity Discourses of Belarus ), Civil Society Responses to Changing Civic Spaces ), Going Back to the Roots ).

This section follows Introduction and leads into Action Research Cycles, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Action Research Cycles

---

The action research cycles of Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society examines Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society in relation to Democratic Republic of Congo, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Law. This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

---

Outline guidance for this section is: Develop a focused argument on Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society; keep the section specific to Democratic Republic of Congo; connect it to the wider article. In the context of Democratic Republic of Congo, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Reassembling Society in a Nation-State: History, Language, and Identity Discourses of Belarus ), Civil Society Responses to Changing Civic Spaces ), Going Back to the Roots ).

This section follows Methodology and leads into Outcomes and Reflections, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Outcomes and Reflections

---

The outcomes and reflections of Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society examines Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society in relation to Democratic Republic of Congo, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Law. This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

Outline guidance for this section is: Develop a focused argument on Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society; keep the section specific to Democratic Republic of Congo; connect it to the wider article. In the context of Democratic Republic of Congo, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Reassembling Society in a Nation-State: History, Language, and Identity Discourses of Belarus ), Civil Society Responses to Changing Civic Spaces ), Going Back to the Roots ).

This section follows Action Research Cycles and leads into Discussion, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Discussion

---

The discussion of Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society examines Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society in relation to Democratic Republic of Congo, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Law. This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses interpret the findings, connect them to literature, and explain what they mean.

Outline guidance for this section is: Interpret the main findings on Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society; connect them to scholarship; explain implications for Democratic Republic of Congo; note practical relevance. In the context of Democratic Republic of Congo, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Reassembling Society in a Nation-State: History, Language, and Identity Discourses of Belarus ), Civil Society Responses to Changing Civic Spaces ), Going Back to the Roots ).

---

This section follows Outcomes and Reflections and leads into Conclusion, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Conclusion

---

The conclusion of Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society examines Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society in relation to Democratic Republic of Congo, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Law. This section is written as a approximately 297 to 455 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses close crisply with the answer to the research problem, implications, and next steps.

Outline guidance for this section is: Answer the main question on Parliamentary Budget Offices and Fiscal Oversight in African Legislatures: The Role of Civil Society; restate the contribution; note the most practical implication for Democratic Republic of Congo; suggest a next step. In the context of Democratic Republic of Congo, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Reassembling Society in a Nation-State: History, Language, and Identity Discourses of Belarus ), Civil Society Responses to Changing Civic Spaces ), Going Back to the Roots ).

This section follows Discussion and leads into the next analytical stage, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Contributions

This study contributes an African-centred synthesis that advances evidence-informed practice and policy in the field, offering context-specific insights for scholarship and decision-making.

---

References

- Bekus, N. (2022). Reassembling Society in a Nation-State: History, Language, and Identity Discourses of Belarus. Nationalities Papers
- Biekart, K., Kontinen, T., & Millstein, M. (2023). Civil Society Responses to Changing Civic Spaces. EADI global development series
- Mabele, M.B., Krauss, J.E., & Kiwango, W.A. (2022). Going Back to the Roots. Conservation and Society
- May, R. (2022). State and Society in Papua New Guinea, 2001–2021. ANU Press eBooks