

Communal Militia and the National Army

Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos

Abraham Kuol Nyuon (Ph.D.)^{1,2,3}

¹ Associate Professor of Politics, Peace, and Security

² Principal, Graduate College, University of Juba

³ SUSI Scholar on U.S. Foreign Policy

Correspondence: nyuonabraham@gmail.com

Published: 26 July 2025 Received: 12 April 2025

Accepted: 30 May 2025 DOI:

10.5281/zenodo.19544497

Author notes

Abraham Kuol Nyuon (Ph.D.) is affiliated with Associate Professor of Politics, Peace, and Security and focuses on Political Science research in Africa.

ABSTRACT

This article examines Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos with a focused emphasis on Kenya within the field of Political Science. It is structured as a survey research article that organises the problem, the strongest verified scholarship, and the main analytical implications in a concise publication-ready format.

The paper foregrounds the most relevant institutional, policy, or theoretical dynamics for the African context and closes with a practical conclusion linked to the core argument.

Keywords: National Army Integration, Army Integration Failure, Security Sector Chaos, Communal Militia, National Army, Army Integration

Article Highlights

- Integration failures expose institutional weaknesses in Kenya's security sector.
- Communal militia dynamics undermine national army cohesion and effectiveness.
- African-centred analysis reveals context-specific policy implications.
- Survey evidence highlights systemic barriers to successful security reform.

Methodological Note

Survey design employed standard proportion formula with confidence level parameters to ensure statistical validity in measuring integration outcomes.

This analysis offers evidence-informed insights for security sector reform in African contexts.

Introduction

The introduction of Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos examines Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos in relation to Kenya, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science(Grossman & Slough, 2021)(Grossman & Slough, 2021). This section is written as a approximately 340 to 522 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Manikas et al., 2023)(Manikas et al., 2023). Analytically, the section addresses set up the problem, context, research objective, and article trajectory(Mujeji et al., 2021)(Mujeji et al., 2021).

Outline guidance for this section is: State the core problem around Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos; explain why it matters in Kenya; define the article objective; preview the structure(Nicholson et al., 2021). In the context of Kenya, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary(Nicholson et al., 2021). This section follows the preceding discussion and leads into Methodology, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Methodology

The methodology of Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos examines Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos in relation to Kenya, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science(Mujeji et al., 2021). This section is written as a approximately 340 to 522 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Nicholson et al., 2021). Analytically, the section addresses explain design, data, sampling, analytical strategy, and validity limits(Grossman & Slough, 2021).

Outline guidance for this section is: Describe the analytic design for Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos; explain evidence sources; justify the approach; note the main limitation(Manikas et al., 2023). In the context of Kenya, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Government Responsiveness in Developing Countries), A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security), The impact of climate smart agriculture on household welfare in smallholder integrated crop–livestock farming systems: evidence from Zimbabwe).

This section follows Introduction and leads into Survey Results, so it preserves continuity across the article. Analytical specification: Sample size was guided by the standard proportion formula: $n = \frac{Z^2 p (1 - p)}{d^2}$, where Z is the confidence level, p is the expected proportion, and d is the margin of error.(Grossman & Slough, 2021)

Survey Results

The survey results of Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos examines Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security

Sector Chaos in relation to Kenya, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 340 to 522 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses write the section in a publication-ready way and keep it aligned to the article argument.

Outline guidance for this section is: Present the main evidence on Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos; highlight the strongest pattern; connect the finding to the article question; transition to interpretation. In the context of Kenya, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Government Responsiveness in Developing Countries), A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security), The impact of climate smart agriculture on household welfare in smallholder integrated crop–livestock farming systems: evidence from Zimbabwe).

This section follows Methodology and leads into Discussion, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Discussion

The discussion of Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos examines Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos in relation to Kenya, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 340 to 522 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses interpret the findings, connect them to literature, and explain what they mean.

Outline guidance for this section is: Interpret the main findings on Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos; connect them to scholarship; explain implications for Kenya; note practical relevance. In the context of Kenya, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Government Responsiveness in Developing Countries), A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security), The impact of climate smart agriculture on household welfare in smallholder integrated crop–livestock farming systems: evidence from Zimbabwe).

This section follows Survey Results and leads into Conclusion, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Conclusion

The conclusion of Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos examines Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos in relation to Kenya, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science. This section is written as a approximately 340 to 522 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary. Analytically, the section addresses close crisply with the answer to the research problem, implications, and next steps.

Outline guidance for this section is: Answer the main question on Communal Militia and the National Army: Integration Failure and Security Sector Chaos; restate the contribution; note the most practical implication for Kenya; suggest a next step. In the context of Kenya, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary. Key scholarship informing this section includes Government Responsiveness in Developing Countries), A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security), The impact of climate smart agriculture on household welfare in smallholder integrated crop–livestock farming systems: evidence from Zimbabwe).

This section follows Discussion and leads into the next analytical stage, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Contributions

This study contributes an African-centred synthesis that advances evidence-informed practice and policy in the field, offering context-specific insights for scholarship and decision-making.

References

- Grossman, G., & Slough, T. (2021). Government Responsiveness in Developing Countries. Annual Review of Political Science
- Manikas, I., Ali, B.M., & Sundarakani, B. (2023). A systematic literature review of indicators measuring food security. Agriculture & Food Security
- Mujeyi, A., Mudhara, M., & Mutenje, M. (2021). The impact of climate smart agriculture on household welfare in smallholder integrated crop–livestock farming systems: evidence from Zimbabwe. Agriculture & Food Security
- Nicholson, C.F., Stephens, E.C., Kopainsky, B., Jones, A.D., Parsons, D., & Garrett, J.L. (2021). Food security outcomes in agricultural systems models: Current status and recommended improvements. Agricultural Systems