ABSTRACT

This article examines Boko Haram's Regional Expansion: Lake Chad Basin Security and Cross-Border Threats: Digital Transformation and Emerging Challenges with a focused emphasis on Chad within the field of Political Science. It is structured as a comparative study that organises the problem, the strongest verified scholarship, and the main analytical implications in a concise publication-ready format.

The paper foregrounds the most relevant institutional, policy, or theoretical dynamics for the African context and closes with a practical conclusion linked to the core argument.

Keywords: Boko Haram s, Haram s Regional, s Regional Expansion, Regional Expansion Lake, Expansion Lake Chad, Lake Chad Basin

Article Highlights

- Examines Boko Haram's expansion in the Lake Chad Basin with focus on Chad.
- Analyses digital transformation and emerging cross-border security threats.
- Foregrounds institutional and policy dynamics specific to the African context.
- Provides a comparative framework linking evidence to practical conclusions.

Core Contribution

An African-centred analysis of regional security threats, emphasising context-specific mechanisms and institutional settings in Chad and the wider Lake Chad Basin.

This article employs a comparative design to organise the problem, verified scholarship, and analytical implications.

Introduction

The introduction of Boko Haram's Regional Expansion: Lake Chad Basin Security and Cross-Border Threats: Digital Transformation and Emerging Challenges examines Boko Haram's Regional Expansion: Lake Chad Basin Security and Cross-Border Threats: Digital Transformation and Emerging Challenges in relation to Chad, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science(Esmail et al., 2023)(Esmail et al., 2023). This section is written as a approximately 426 to 654 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Farooq et al., 2022)(Farooq et al., 2022). Analytically, the section addresses set up the problem, context, research objective, and article trajectory(Kimengsi et al., 2021)(Kimengsi et al., 2021).

Outline guidance for this section is: State the core problem around Boko Haram's Regional Expansion: Lake Chad Basin Security and Cross-Border Threats: Digital Transformation and Emerging Challenges; explain why it matters in Chad; define the article objective; preview the structure(Rahman & Sakib, 2021). In the context of Chad, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary(Rahman & Sakib, 2021). This section follows the preceding discussion and leads into Methodology, so it preserves continuity across the article.

Methodology

The methodology of Boko Haram's Regional Expansion: Lake Chad Basin Security and Cross-Border Threats: Digital Transformation and Emerging Challenges examines Boko Haram's Regional Expansion: Lake Chad Basin Security and Cross-Border Threats: Digital Transformation and Emerging Challenges in relation to Chad, with specific attention to the dynamics shaping the field of Political Science(Kimengsi et al., 2021). This section is written as a approximately 426 to 654 words part of the article and therefore develops a clear argument rather than a placeholder summary(Rahman & Sakib, 2021). Analytically, the section addresses explain design, data, sampling, analytical strategy, and validity limits(Esmail et al., 2023).

Outline guidance for this section is: Describe the analytic design for Boko Haram's Regional Expansion: Lake Chad Basin Security and Cross-Border Threats: Digital Transformation and Emerging Challenges; explain evidence sources; justify the approach; note the main limitation(Farooq et al., 2022). In the context of Chad, the discussion emphasises mechanisms, institutional setting, and the African significance of the problem rather than generic commentary.
